DePauw President Calls For Creative Controversy

Students attending DePauw University's first chapel service last night in Gobin Church were urged by President William E. Kerstetter to enter creative campus controversy.

Kerstetter told the students, many of them freshmen, to entertain campus debate by attacking issues and ideas — not men — and to seek truth and not personal victory.

But, the President said, controversy of "just any old kind, and the distribution of falsehoods, and the expression of malicious statements" are not the ingredients of a stimulating intellectual life nor a creative academic community.

Students across the nation, Dr. Kerstetter observed, are asking how their colleges can be made more distinctly intellectual, their academic fellowship more fruitful.

He urged students to govern their lives on precepts suggested by the lives and works of Jesus Christ and Socrates. Students were advised to pursue truth calmly, carefully, meticulously, attempting to reduce controversy rather than magnify and glorify it.

Controversy for controversy's sake, rather than stimulating intellectual life and the great debate, he said, "tends to destroy freedom and truth, shatters the academic community, smears, smothers and hides the truth."

The vision and hopes of Socrates and Jesus can be approached and attained through the exercise of reason, self-criticism, humor, goodwill, humility and love, Dr. Kerstetter said.

Dr. Milan Opocensky, assistant to the dean at the University of Prague, Czechoslovakia, will speak Wednesday at 10 a. m. in Gobin Church. His topic will be "Christian Existence in a Communist Country."

Claim Major Victory

By United Press International

Pakistan today claimed its army and air force destroyed one-third of India's armored strength in a bitter tank battle described as the biggest clash of its kind since World War II.

An official communique broadcast from Karachi by Radio Pakistan said Pakistani troops, tanks, artillery and aircraft teamed up to "destroy" one Indian armored division and two infantry divisions Sunday and Saturday in the Sialkot sector of West Pakistan 50 miles north of Lahore.

"The battlefield is strewn with the twisted metal of what was India's armored strength and with the bodies of Indian troops," the broadcast said.

Pakistan said India has lost half its tank force since the beginning of the undeclared war over the disputed state of Kashmir.

The Karachi broadcast said India threw the bulk of its armored might into the battle in a desperate attempt to achieve a breakthrough but came up against an "impregnable wall." Indian infantrymen supporting

Peace Corps Has Local Volunteer

Margie Pearl Wysong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Wysong, Rural Route 1, Greencastle, has been named a Peace Corps Volunteer, having completed 10 weeks of training at San Jose State College, San Jose, Calif., and now is on leave at home prior to a September 6 departure for the Philippines.

This group of Volunteers will both expand Peace Corps teaching efforts in the Philippines, and replace Volunteers who have completed their two years service. With their arrival, some 550 Peace Corps teachers will be working in elementary, secondary and normal schools throughout the islands. As "co-teachers," the Volunteers will work along side Filipino teachers, refining teaching methods and math, science and English curriculums. The co-teacher system enables the Volunteer and his Filipino counter-part to make improvements by continually evaluating each other's work.

During training, the Volunteers studied Filipino, the official dialect of the Philippines. They also were trained in new math, inductive science, and English teaching. They practiced their teaching in schools near the training site.

Other levies in the proposed county levy were left unchanged.

The proposed county levies approved by the council are:

Cum. Bridge	20
Hos. Bond Rdemp.	07
Hos. Cum. Bldg.	20
Total	$1.53

Members of the Council are Norman Knights, Charles Rudy, Paul Murphy, Paul Whitman, Eddie Buis, Kenneth Shannon and William Mullinix.

Following the Tax Adjustment Board's work, the proposed levies will get final action from the Indiana State Tax Board.

A relatively low toll in Indiana traffic during the weekend enabled the state to make significant gains in its efforts to keep the fatality total from running away from last year's comparative figure.

He was one of a group of instructors who were enrolled at Indiana University this summer training for the trip. They lived in quarters on the I.U. campus where they could speak only the Russian language. They left New York by plane Aug. 1st and returned Aug. 29th.

Success Of Right Play
Is Triumph For Justice

By Alfred Sheinwold

Sometimes an expert goes through seven or eight expert maneuvers just to avoid taking a finesse — when all the time the finesse would have worked. When the expert play turns out to be not only right but also necessary we get a feeling that justice has triumphed.

Nobody will argue if you think the bidding was ambitious. Alex Tschekaloff, the Santa Monica expert who held the South cards, is no party-waist. Besides, his team was trailing in the national team championships a few weeks ago, and he was in no position to settle for a part score.

Tschekaloff won the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and returned a low trump. East took the ace of diamonds and returned a club to the singleton ace.

Declarer took the ace of spades, ruffed a spade in dummy and got back by ruffing a club. The fall of the queen of clubs was something to think about.

CONTINUES PLAN
Tschekaloff continued his plan by ruffing another spade in dummy and then drew a second round of trumps with the queen. Since the jack failed to drop, he had to get back to his hand to lead the king of trumps.

It was clearly unsafe to ruff another club, so declarer had to lead a heart from dummy in the hope of ruffing the third round of hearts.

The average player would lead a low heart from dummy, and in some hands might get away with his poor play. The cards might be so placed that West would have to win the heart trick. In this case, however, South would go down if he led a low heart from dummy. East would win with the ten of hearts and would return a spade or a club to let West take the setting trick with the jack of diamonds.

Tschekaloff avoided this fate by making the "right" play. He led the jack of hearts from dummy instead of a low heart. West had to win the trick, and no return from West was dangerous. When West led a third heart, South ruffed and drew the last trump, after which he could easily take the rest.

DAILY QUESTION

ANSWER: Bid two clubs. You plan to jump to four spades next, showing your side suit as well as your fine spade support. A jump to three spades at your first turn would describe your general strength but would not describe your unusual length in the black suits.

CREDITABLE TEENERS

GREAT BEND, Kan. (UPI) — While officials of numerous American cities pondered the problems of lawless behavior by teen-agers Great Bend city fathers studied the best way to say thank you to teen-agers for work well done.

They decided on an appreciation dinner and dance which was attended by about 500 teen-agers. The event, sponsored by the city council, expressed the community's appreciation to teen-agers credited with an important role in saving the city from the Arkansas river flood in June. The youngsters helped construct sandbag dikes which held floodwaters out of the town after a levee failed.

Annual Emmy Awards Made

HOLLYWOOD UPI—Barbara Streisand, who burst on the television scene in a widely acclaimed one-woman show, and old standby Dick Van Dyke topped television's annual Emmy awards Sunday night.

The young stars shared top billing with Alfred Lunt, Lynn Fontanne and conductor Leonard Bernstein who also won for outstanding individual achievements in entertainment.

They were the only performers to receive the gold statuettes among the 33 Emmys presented on the nationally telecast program.

Each of the winners' shows also took honors for outstanding achievement under the revamped Emmy format that limited nominees to four catchall categories.

The winning shows were: "My Name Is Barbara," "The Dick Van Dyke Show," Bernstein's "What Is Sonata Form?" from his New York Philharmonic Young Peoples Concert series, and "The Magnificent Yankee" in which Lunt and Fontanne starred in a segment of "Hallmark of Fame."

A breathless Miss Streisand said: "This is too fantastic. When I was a kid my favorite shows were the Oscar and Emmys."

Van Dyke, who won last year's Emmy for best comedian, was absent. His Emmy was accepted by his brother, Jerry. Actress Edie Adams accepted the award for Bernstein while Joan Crawford read a note of pleased acceptance from Lunt-Fontanne.

The scheduled 90-minute telecast, which ran almost a half-hour over time, was a star-studded show emanating from Hollywood's Palladium with Danny Thomas as emcee and New York's Hilton Hotel where Sammy Davis acted as host.

Presentations were intermingled with musical numbers and gags by stars acting as presenters, among them: Johnny Carson, Jimmy Durante, Roger Stevens, Danny Kaye, Robert Vaughn, Mary Tyler Moore, Richard Crenna and 2 members of the singing King Family.

Race Problem Passed: Sanders

By United Press International

A southern governor—Carl Sanders of Georgia—said Sunday "the race problem . . . is passed" in the South.

Sanders made the statement to the 1965 Southern Governors Conference meeting in Sea Island, Ga.

Southern governors in years past have devoted time trying to forestall integration. Sunday, Gov. George Wallace of Alabama said there was little point to offering a resolution act.

"I would back it but what good would it do for me to introduce it," Wallace said. "The law is clearly unconstitutional but nobody can say what the Supreme Court would do about that."

While the governors were meeting in Sea Island, a grand jury was scheduled to convene at Haynesville, Ala., to consider the Aug. 20 shotgun slaying of white civil rights worker, James Ray, and the wounding of the Rev. Richard Morrisroe, also 26, a Roman Catholic priest from Chicago.

Tome Coleman, 52, a highway engineer and special deputy sheriff, has been charged with the slaying of Daniels and with assault with intent to kill in the wounding of Morrisroe.

On The U. S. Farm Front

By Gaylord P. Godwin

WASHINGTON UPI — Increases in the total farm debt of $2.6 billion in 1964 and $3.1 billion in 1965 have aroused some concern among Agriculture Department economists.

Total farm debt Jan. 1 was $37.5 billion. This compares with a total debt of $34.9 billion a year earlier, and $31.8 billion in 1963. The current farm debt consists of $18.9 billion in mortgages on real estate and $18.6 billion in non-real estate debts. The farm mortgage debt itself was up $2.1 billion from a year earlier.

Writing in the 1965 balance sheet of agriculture, the economists said:

"Concern about the farm debt situation . . . has continued to grow. The increasing size of farm income has caused many people to wonder whether farmers have been using credit as a substitute for income and whether the debt structure can be supported without gains in farm income."

"Officials of major farm credit institutions frequently express anxiety about the intense competition among lenders that has been a factor in the continuously higher mortgage loans made per acre of farmland."

Total farm debt in 1950 was $12.4 billion. The current total represents an increase in total debt of 201.7 per cent in 15 years.

The department said the rapid growth of farm debt after World War II apparently resulted mainly from the enlargement and improvement of farms and from the increased investments necessary to stock, equip, and operate them. The agency added that it may be presumed that the increase in farm debt after 1960 — about 45 per cent — stemmed chiefly from the use of credit by farmers to enlarge their land holdings.

The department said the excellent debt-repayment record of farmers may be due partly to the rising land market and the consequent ease with which indebted farmers can refinance their debts or repay them by selling out.

credit institutions frequently express anxiety about the intense competition among lenders that has been a factor in the continuously higher mortgage loans made per acre of farmland."

Total farm debt in 1950 was $12.4 billion. The current total represents an increase in total debt of 201.7 per cent in 15 years.

The department said the rapid growth of farm debt after World War II apparently resulted mainly from the enlargement and improvement of farms and from the increased investments necessary to stock, equip, and operate them. The agency added that it may be presumed that the increase in farm debt after 1960 — about 45 per cent — stemmed chiefly from the use of credit by farmers to enlarge their land holdings.

The department said the excellent debt-repayment record of farmers may be due partly to the rising land market and the consequent ease with which indebted farmers can refinance their debts or repay them by selling out.

Miss Indiana Near Winner

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. UPI — Miss Indiana came within two notches of winning the 1966 Miss America crown Saturday night.

Eileen Mary Smith, 18, Indianapolis, who won a preliminary talent contest Wednesday night to give herself a big boost to consideration for the crown, wound up as second runnerup to Deborah Bryant, 19-year-old Miss Kansas.

The third-place victory came after Miss Smith survived the competition by being chosen for the top 10, then stayed alive by remaining among the final five with the entries from Kansas, Mississippi, Florida and Wisconsin.

Miss Mississippi was first runnerup.

In the final test on stage before a nation-wide television audience, Miss Smith was asked a question about problems of adjustment when she moved four years ago from New Jersey to Indiana.

She mentioned the "Hoosier accent" it was necessary to become used to, and complimented the state for a "fine educational system."

Third-place finish won for the Hoosier girl $4,100 in scholarships. She said the plans to enroll at Butler University in Indianapolis next January and at Columbia University next fall.

The finish was the best for a Miss Indiana since Carol Mitchell of Rochester was first runnerup in 1952.

Russ Appeal To India, Pakistan

MOSCOW UPI — The Soviet government made yet another appeal today for "the immediate ending of military actions" between India and Pakistan — the third such appeal in five days.

A statement issued by the official Tass news agency said the Soviet government "is seriously alarmed" by the march of events and again calls on India and Pakistan "to display reason."

It said an expansion of the conflict "will invariably create new problems which may turn out to be even more difficult of solution."

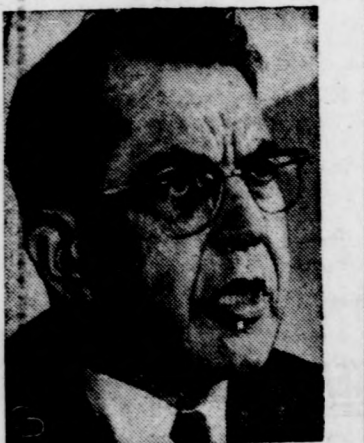

"The settlement of the conflict is primarily the concern of India and Pakistan, but in the situation that is taking shape much depends also on other states," the statement said.

"All states must exert efforts to extinguish the conflict and stop the bloodshed between India and Pakistan."

"The Soviet government reminds that it is ready to provide its good offices in this matter if, naturally, both sides should wish that."

MYSTERIOUS DEATH of actress-singer Dorothy Dandridge (above), whose nude body was found on bathroom floor of her apartment in Hollywood, is being investigated by Los Angeles authorities. This photo was made as the 41-year-old performer prepared to leave Mexico City for Hollywood on Sept. 7.

William E. Simkin, chief government mediator, says "If agreement is to be attained, a great deal of responsibility will be required by both parties." He said at this point it's a stalemate.

Purdue Farm Expert Is Dead

FRANKFORT UPI — Services were planned today for Lewis Stewart, 62, nationally known farm expert and former Purdue University athlete, who died Saturday.

A director of the National Hampshire Swine Association, Stewart was graduated from Purdue in 1925 and later spent 17 years teaching school.

While in college, Stewart was an all-conference football tackle in 1924.

Father of Five To Die Jan. 11

WINCHESTER UPI — James Pruett, 28, Liberty, father of five children, was sentenced to die next Jan. 11 in the electric chair by Randolph Circuit Judge J. W. Macy Saturday.

Macy ordered the execution carried out one hour before daylight as penalty for the slaying of Robert Mopps, 38, Richmond, a service station attendant.

Pruett was found guilty of first-degree murder. He was also charged in the death of Roy Waskom, 45, Richmond. Both men were shot to death during a robbery June 10 which netted the thief about $100.

Macy set the execution for the Indiana State Prison at Michigan City.

The case had been sent to Randolph County on a change of venue from Wayne County.

South Part of State Is Soaked

By United Press International

The last remnants of Hurricane Betsy spread a full dreary weekend of soaking rain on the southern half of Indiana. But upstate areas missed the heavy September showers.

The sun failed to shine throughout the weekend over most of the downstate area and rain was so steady the streets scarcely dried off during the entire period.

As a result some areas in the far south received more than three inches of precipitation and others nearly as far north as Indianapolis got more than two inches.

Totals included Evansville 3.20, Cincinnati 2.70, Louisville 2.48, Spencer 2.37, Bedford 2.20, Petersburg 2.65 and Shoals 2.18.

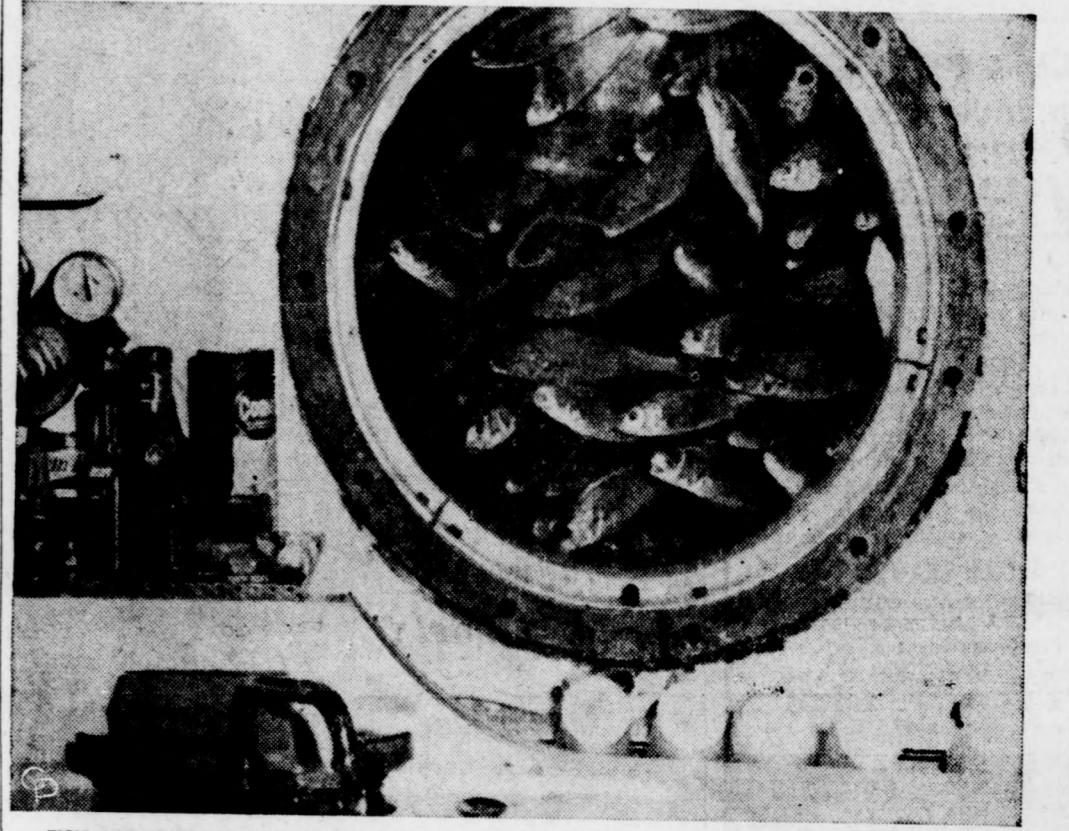

Indianapolis recorded 1.01 inches, but most of the northern half had little or none. There was no measurable rainfall at Lafayette, South Bend or Fort Wayne.

It was the gloomiest weekend in many months downstate, however, and any soil moisture shortages remaining in that area where precipitation this summer has been unusually generous were wiped out by the latest soaking showers.

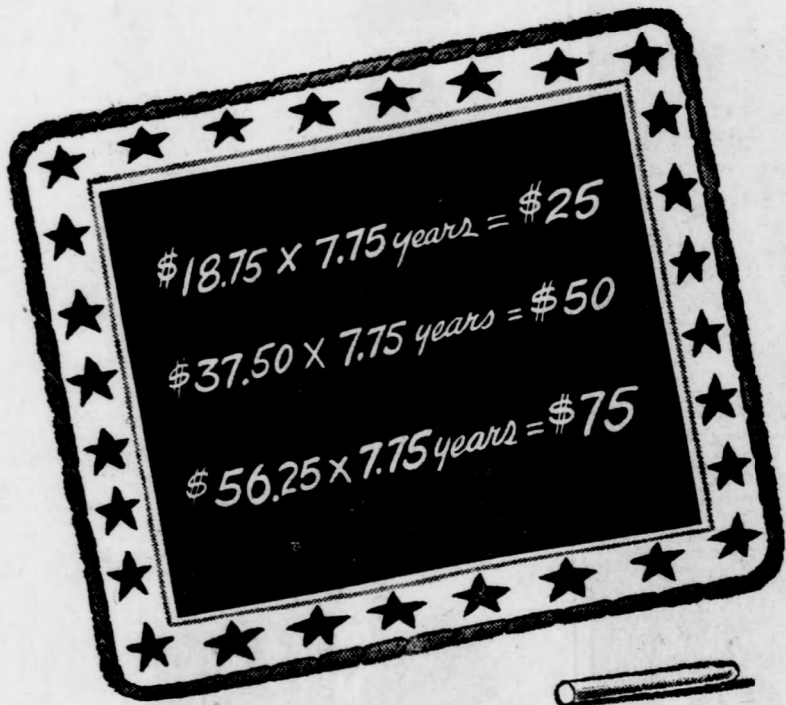

Additional showers or thundershowers were expected this afternoon and tonight over the state. By Tuesday, the showers will have run their course temporarily and the day will be partly cloudy, forecasters said.

Red, white, and blue arithmetic

If you're looking for safety in numbers, try these figures on United States Savings Bonds.

The value of Savings Bonds adds up at a safe, steady rate. When your Bonds are held to maturity, you get back $4 for every $3 that you invest. And that interest is guaranteed.

Furthermore, you don't pay any state or local income tax on E Bond interest. The federal income tax income may be deferred until you cash them. When you need the cash, your Bonds convert in a jiffy.

But the best part of the Savings Bond equation doesn't show up on the tables—the pride you can feel that your money is put to work helping to strengthen freedom's cause throughout the world.

It all adds up to the fact that United States Savings Bonds are a mighty hard-working investment. Millions of Americans have found Bonds the star-spangled way to save. That figures, doesn't it?

Finds Criticism New Experience

WASHINGTON UPI — Criticism is a new experience for Robert Sargent Chiver Jr., the energetic Kennedy clan member who heads President Johnson's "War On Poverty."

During the years he was building the Peace Corps into the nation's most popular government agency, the handsome, 49-year-old Shriver enjoyed a steady diet of praise. Thus his skin has not yet thickened to the degree generations of public servants have found necessary for survival in official Washington.

Normally one of the most affable of men, Shriver grew red-faced with anger during an hour-long interview when I asked him about some of the charges that have been leveled lately at his office of Economic Opportunity OEO.

He said the war on poverty is going great guns. If anyone has a contrary impression, he added, "It's because the press tends to magnify the difficulties and ignore the accomplishments of the $1.5 billion-a-year program."

Shriver heatedly denied charges that OEO is a gigantic boondoggle, that its top executives are quitting in droves because of his policies, that Job Corps camps are a turmoil of undisciplined youths and that OEO is squandering money on a high-salaried bureaucracy and a plush Washington headquarters.

"This is that 'luxurious headquarters' you keep reading about," he said, an edge of bitterness creeping into his voice. With a wave of his arm he invited inspection of his own office. It lacked the carpets, draperies, davenports, easy chairs and other status items usually found in the offices of high federal officials.

"There's not a carpet or a davenport in this whole building," he said, referring to the drab, eighty-story commercial office building OEO has leased.

He pulled out a freshly prepared chart, and pointed to figures showing that OEO has saved the taxpayers $182,000 by furnishing its office more modestly than government regulations permit.

What really irks Shriver is the vague statement he encounters from time to time in newspaper editorials and columns that the poverty program is "in trouble."

Moisture Threatening Famous Venetian Cathedral Foundations

VENICE, Italy UPI — Experts have been called in to save one of Venice's most famous landmarks — St. Mark's Cathedral.

The foundations of the centuries-old building are being weakened by excessive moisture around the site, little wonder in a city built almost entirely over water.

The Cathedral, which houses the bones of the city's patron saint, was started in 830, the year after the remains of the evangelist were brought to Venice from Alexandria. Its Byzantine splendor, however, dates from an extensive remodeling job in the 11th and 12th centuries.

It has five domes and hundreds of marble columns, most of them brought from the Orient. The name "Golden Basilica" derives from its mosaics, some of them going back to the Middle Ages, which are decorated with gold leaf in traditional Eastern style.

Giuseppe Forlati, who is in charge of the Cathedral's maintenance, expressed optimism that the building can be saved from disintegrating.

From the city's foundation, Forlati said, "Venetian builders have sought to protect their structures from the moisture of the area. The foundations of the most famous buildings, in fact, consist of large blocks of stone well fastened together, the remains of Roman buildings abandoned along the shore. In addition, they are a kind of stone which absorbs very little water."

The most promising remedy so far proposed is the placing of tar-coated slabs of lead within the walls themselves. This was successfully tried in another Venice building, the Scuola di San Giorgio dei Dalmati.

The Italian Government's reaction to the problem was to appoint a commission. The group has called in Swiss, German and American firms for consultation.

BIGGEST YET—The second stage of the biggest rocket so far, the Saturn-1B, is joined to the first stage on Pad 34 at Cape Kennedy. NASA hopes to launch it around first of the year.

Hurricane Toll May Reach 200

NEW ORLEANS UPI — Rescuers moved into previously inaccessible areas of wind and flood wracked Louisiana today in search of more victims of killer Hurricane Betsy, fearful the eventual death toll could go beyond 200.

An ominous mystery complicated the rescue and recovery operations — what happened to 1.2 million pounds of lethal chlorine? The liquid chlorine was aboard a barge which disappeared Friday from its moorings near Baton Rouge at the height of the storm's fury. It was presumed sunk in the Mississippi River.

The federal government rushed 100,000 gas masks to Baton Rouge as a "precautionary measure." President Johnson ordered an all-out emergency search for the missing barge, owned by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

Baton Rouge Mayor W. W. Dumas, however, said he was "not alarmed" about the barge. He said the gas masks were for the people of Baton Rouge but added "we are not even going to distribute them."

Officials here feared receding flood waters would reveal many more dead in areas isolated since the storm struck with unprecedented fury during the weekend.

By early today, 45 persons were known dead in Louisiana. Eleven others died in other states earlier as Betsy moved from the Bahamas, across Florida and into the Gulf coast.

BIG TV BAKERS

CHICAGO UPI — Strange as it may seem, baking is a vital quality control process in making color television tubes. At Admiral Corporation's new color tube plant under construction here, three huge baking ovens 200 feet long and 20 feet wide are being installed.

One gas-fired oven will be used for sealing the front panel to the glass bulb of the 25-inch picture tubes, while an electric oven will be used to exhaust the air from the tubes and a second electric oven will bake out the panel.

More Yanks In South Viet Nam

SAIGON UPI — Advance elements of the U. S. Army's First Cavalry Division, an air mobile strike force of 20,000 men and 50 helicopters, moved into a secret base in South Viet Nam today.

The division is the largest single American unit to be committed to the war effort. When the landing is complete, it will boost U. S. combat strength to the 125,000-man mark ordered by President Johnson last July.

The "First Cav" is described as the Army's "Sunday Punch" in guerrilla warfare. Its men are specially trained to swoop in by helicopter against areas threatened by the Viet Cong.

REAL-LIFE ROLE

HOLLYWOOD UPI — Debbie Reynolds' brother, Bill, made his movie debut in "Harlow" playing his real-life role of makeup man.

Farm Measure Approval Soon

WASHINGTON UPI — The Senate was expected to hand President Johnson another key victory on the farm bill today. There was even a chance of final approval of the big measure by nightfall.

Both the administration and organized labor rallied behind an amendment by Sen. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., under which the Labor Department would continue to decide when foreign workers could be imported to help out on the nation's farms.

The Bass amendment would serve to strike from the farm bill an amendment by Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., to shift jurisdiction over foreign farm workers Mexican "braceros," Canadian potato diggers, West Indian harvest workers and the like to the Agriculture Department.

Foreign News Commentary

By Alberto Schazin

LIMA, Peru UPI — Communist broadcasts from Moscow and Cuba can be heard nightly in Peru, telling of the "victorious" rebellion by guerrillas in the Peruvian jungles and mountains.

The broadcasts are made in the Quechua Indian language as well as in Spanish. They glorify the guerrilla cause of liberation, incite others to join the movement.

In reality, however, the guerrilla terrorism in Peru's backlands has all but ended in defeat.

There have been no major clashes between the guerrillas and government forces since Aug. 12.

The combined action of the army, air force and state police apparently has split the insurgent forces into two groups. Military spokesmen said one of the groups is in the Jutunhuasi Mountain area 240 miles east of Lima, the other near Satipo on the edge of the Amazon jungle 300 miles to the east.

The military has estimated total guerrilla strength at about 200 men, armed with submachineguns, rifles and homemade hand grenades.

Nevertheless, a state of siege that was imposed last July 4 continues in effect. And army and police patrols remain in the sparsely settled areas where the guerrilla terrorism began June 7.

But the unrest caused by the backlands fighting, plus a few terrorist bomb attacks in Lima itself, has neither endangered the moderate leftist government of President Fernando Belaunde Terry nor hampered Peru's blossoming economy.

The terrorism began with a guerrilla attack on a lead mine. Later four farm homes were attacked and robbed of food, then a police patrol was ambushed, all the activity occurred in the Jutunhuasi area east of Lima.

On June 12, Belaunde sent in army troops to clean out the guerrillas. The troops received support from the air force, which bombed areas where the guerrillas were thought to be concentrated.

In eight direct clashes, government troops and police patrols have killed 40 guerrillas and lost 19 of their own — a kill ratio of 2-to-1.

After two bombs exploded in Lima and a group of terrorists robbed a bank and gambling agency of $24,000, Belaunde ordered all known or suspected Communists in the capital arrested.

Police rounded up 200, detained 150. Among those detained were student leaders, teachers, attorneys and an ex-communicated Catholic priest as well as laborers.

The arrests brought an end to the terrorist attacks in Lima.

The guerrillas have been identified as members of the leftist revolutionary movement, a Trotskyite group led by attorney Louis de la Puente Uceda. The attorney has been wanted by police for two years for the murder of a political rival, who was shot in the presence of hundreds of witnesses in a churchyard in Trujillo.

What's all the commotion about skintone colors in today's bras, girdles and lingerie? At the recent showings, everyone was talking about these new "nude" shades, tinted to blend closely as possible into your own skin tone. How come?

The answer stems from the fact that fashion designers are skimping clothes everywhere this year and skintone is the perfect underfashion shade to wear 'neath cut out dresses, one shoulder gowns, all those openworks in knits, laces—just about everything.

"Nude" transparent bras actually started the whole skintone trend in underfashions. One of the prettiest that came to our attention is made by Lovable, in the sheerest wisp of nylon that gives you that new transparent look of almost no bra at all. Called "Bare Minimum," it has just enough control to wear under all your

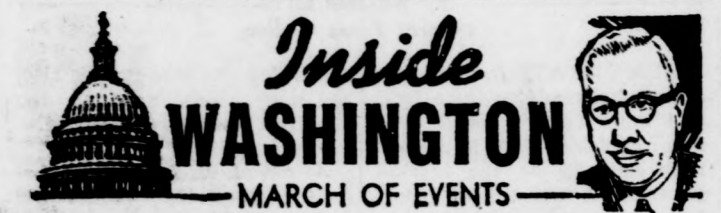

Are you one of those gals who goes for wearing match-mates? Well, fear not! I'm happy to report that Lovable's popular Anchors-A-Waist girdle is a perfect color mate in the skintone shade of the "nude" bras described above. I checked styles by other producers and found the same, so you are very much in luck if you are looking for skintone match-mates in bras and girdles...and it is the better to see through 'neath all those openworks in fashion this fall.

A house doorkeeper, witnessing the accident and wanting to be of assistance, escorted the nervous couple into an anteroom that happened to be the hang-out for radio and television correspondents.

To the surprise of the guard and the assembled newsmen the wife whipped out a threaded needle from her bag and swiftly mended the tear. The rescued couple then went calmly on their tour leaving their audience with a slightly higher estimate of the caliber of tourists who visit the national city.

REPUBLICAN MINORITY IS LESS THAN EFFECTIVE

By HENRY CATHCART

Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's way with Congress continues to be the marvel of the current Washington scene. One has to reach back a long way in memory to a time of crisis or war to find a parallel.

But Johnson is getting just about everything he wants from the legislators without either of these two imperatives to spur compliance. The answer lies in part in the President's own vast practical political experience on Capitol Hill. But even this is not enough to explain how he can get recalcitrant Democrats to vote with him and against what they judge to be their own best political interests. And it explains even less how a Democratic president can persuade many Republicans literally to abandon their constituencies and their own party to support legislation pushed by that symbol of all they oppose.

A major part of the answer can be found in Johnson's lopsided 1964 election victory. The vote count on that occasion did more than give Johnson the landslide he so vigorously sought. It fragmented the Republican Party, reducing its effectiveness to a point as low as that experienced in the depths of the great depression.

The Republican minority in Congress, as small as it is, could still be an effective rallying point of opposition if it had leadership, an articulate program of its own, and a voting constituency on which it could rely. But as of today it has none of these, and the potential opposition to the Johnsonian program is both incoherent and undisciplined.

The mounting drive for racial integration is also a major factor in Johnson's congressional successes. Not many northern Republicans like the idea of having their party identified with the forces of segregation. And Johnson is exploiting this fact to the hilt.

As far as things can be foreseeable, it is going to be a case of "Whatever Johnson wants, Johnson gets."

● STATISTICAL DIFFICULTY—Mark Twain once said there are liars, damn liars and statistics. Labor Secretary Willard W. Wirtz feels somewhat the same way. His department is one of the principal producers of statistical material in the federal government, but in a recent talk about compiling figures, Wirtz said: "A man with one foot on a hot stove and another in a deep freezer—I suppose you could say that he is on the average comfortable."

● PREPAREDNESS—A couple of tourists, a man and his wife, were sightseeing in the Capitol recently, when the hapless gentleman snagged his trousers on a piece of furniture. The rip was obvious and somewhat embarrassing.

A house doorkeeper, witnessing the accident and wanting to be of assistance, escorted the nervous couple into an anteroom that happened to be the hang-out for radio and television correspondents.

To the surprise of the guard and the assembled newsmen the wife whipped out a threaded needle from her bag and swiftly mended the tear. The rescued couple then went calmly on their tour leaving their audience with a slightly higher estimate of the caliber of tourists who visit the national city.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK: Year of Epochal Decision: 1865

70-A President Johnson said, "I hold it the duty of the executive to insist on frugality in the expenditures."

The president from the South said, "I do not claim that a head of department should have no other opinions than those of the president. He has the same right, in the conscientious discharge of duty, to entertain and express his opinions as the president."

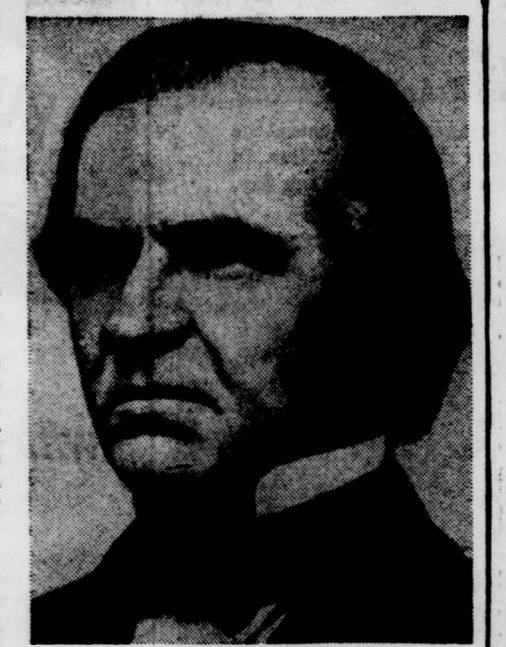

President Johnson said, "I know it has been urged that the executive department is more likely to enlarge the sphere of its action than either of the other two branches of government."

However, he declared, "Interference with the Constitutional authority of the executive department is an evil that will inevitably sap the foundations of our federal system... the wrong is more flagrant and dangerous when the powers so taken from the president are conferred upon subordinate executive officers, and especially upon military officers."

President Johnson said, "Notwithstanding a mendacious press; notwithstanding a subsidized gang of hirelings who have not ceased to traduce me, I have discharged my official duties and fulfilled my pledges. And I say here tonight that if my predecessor had lived, the vials of wrath would have poured upon him."

The presidential utterances above were among those of Andrew Johnson [right], occupant of the White House a century ago. In 1865 he was under strong Republican attack in Congress and was being denounced by radical groups in the North.

The great war was over but troops were being sent to fight Red men in a struggle that would drag on for years. The public rose to two billion eight hundred and forty-six million on Sept. 1, but new appropriations were being urged for aid to the newly emancipated, the poor, the war veterans.

● First Texas, CSA, had the highest percentage of casualties of any regiment on either side in a single battle—82.3% at Antietam.

● The federal government once didn't punish counterfeiting — by Northern printers who produced bogus Confederate money and sold it to "passers" in border states.

HOUSE ORGANS

ST. LOUIS UPI — Paul Coates, a suburban television serviceman who built a 550-pipe organ in his living room three years ago, now is constructing an organ with six key-boards and more than 2,500 pipes.

Coates had to add another room to his house for the new organ. It will have two key-boards for high pressure pipes and four for low pressure pipes. The console is being built out of organs taken from theaters in Philadelphia and Minneapolis and a church in suburban St. Louis.

HARVARD INDIAN

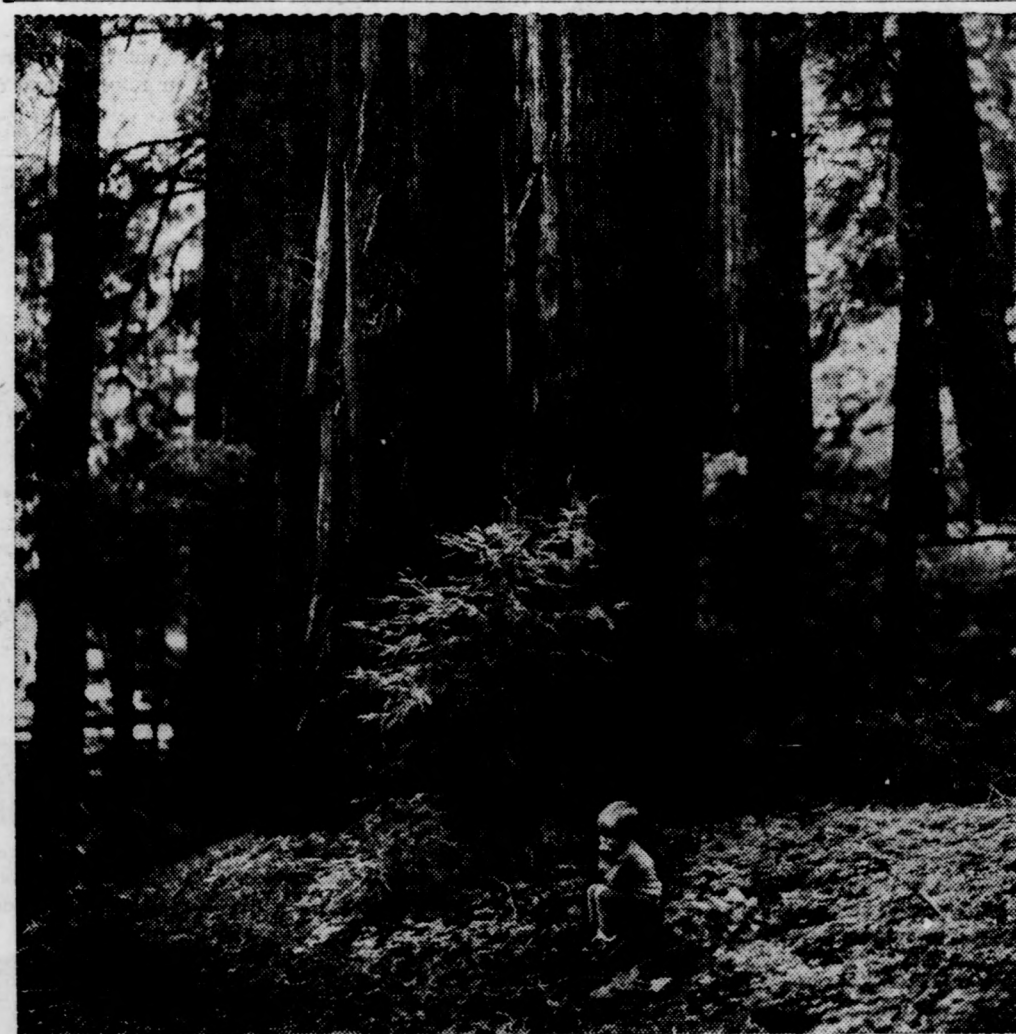

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. UPI — America's first college-educated Indian was Caleb Cheeshahtemuck, who was graduated from Harvard in the Class 1665.

11 KILLED—This is the mangled wreckage left when the truck (left) loaded with lumber smashed head-on into the Greyhound bus while trying to pass another vehicle on U.S. 90 near Vinton, La. The crash killed 11 persons and left 27 injured, three critically.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Readers Are Asking . . .

WHAT causes abdominal adhesions after an operation?

These adhesions are bands of strong fibrous scar tissue. After an operation in the abdomen, they occasionally form. Where there has been an infection, like peritonitis, adhesions may form around the intestine. Most of the adhesions do not interfere with the normal function of the intestinal tract after surgery.

Only occasionally is it necessary to again operate on a patient to release any of the adhesions.

Early diagnosis of abdominal conditions often prevent complications and reduce to a minimum the possibility of adhesions. Speedier and more delicate surgical methods, too, reduce adhesions.

What is meant by a "safe mole" on the face?

A mole is a descriptive term popularly used to describe almost any kind of blemish.

Actually a mole is a tiny growth of the skin that contains colored pigments. Moles can be brown or black, flat or raised and vary in size and shape.

Neither the size, the shape nor its location determines whether it is safe or unsafe to the untrained eye.

Only an expert can determine the true character of a mole and can make the decision for special treatment or surgical removal.

What causes cystitis? Cystitis is an infection or inflammation of the urinary bladder, caused by bacteria. These germs enter the bladder and sometimes invade the tiny tubes (ureters) that carry urine from the kidneys to the bladder. This infection is called pyelitis.

Modern antibiotics and sulfa drugs are very effective against pyelitis and cystitis and prevent the complications that formerly occurred with great frequency.

Is hoarseness always a dangerous sign?

Hoarseness announces itself readily in all kinds of diseases of the larynx.

Within this voice box two fine strands of muscular tissue, about an inch long, are responsible for the sound. They are called the vocal cords.

When we speak or sing the vocal cords come together. When we breathe, they separate. It is impossible to speak and breathe at the same time.

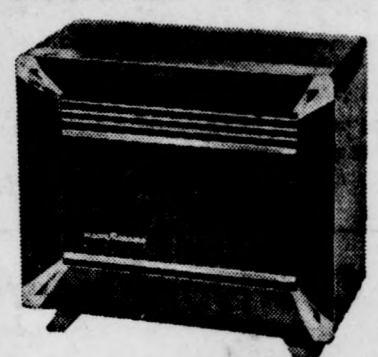

Any condition that interferes with the movement of the vocal cords or disturbs their exact alignment causes hoarseness.

Infection, vocal abuse or tiny nodes and tumors can produce hoarseness.

Because hoarseness announces itself so loudly, treatment usually can begin early and result in successful return of the voice.

SKATEBOARD STATISTIC

Did you know a youngster on a skateboard can streak down hills at 30 miles per hour? Make sure the sidewalk surfers in your family know the speed potential and the hazard of falling so they won't try maneuvers beyond their skill! One further tip: shoes should have nonslip soles like those on sneakers.

SIGN LANGUAGE!

You may have noticed the new sign on the front of your Public Service Indiana office. We hope "the new look" says progressive and efficient service. That's what we're shooting for every day.

NEW HOME?

Lucky you! What a joy — especially if you have flameless electric heating. Keeps your home modern longer... keeps it clean... keeps your family more comfortable. No wonder it's called "comfort conditioning." If you're not moving to a new home, do the next best thing—install flameless electric heating where you are! Costs less than ever before. See Public Service Indiana or your electric heating contractor for more information.

A simply lettered sign posted near an elementary school: "Please drive carefully. Don't run over the children. Watch for the teacher."

CHICKEN FRICASSEE

Thanks go to Mrs. E. A. of Terre Haute, Indiana, for this delightful way to serve chicken.

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------|
| 3 whole chicken breasts halved (about 12 oz. each) | 1 cup water |
| 1 small onion chopped (1/4 cup) | 1/2 cup finely chopped celery |
| 2 tsp. salt | Gravy: |
| 1/2 tsp. pepper | 2 tsp. flour |
| | 1/2 cup skim milk |
- Serves 6

On flameless electric range simmer chicken (covered) with onion, celery, salt, pepper and water about 30 minutes, or until tender. Remove to a heated serving platter. Keep hot while making gravy. To prepare gravy, mix flour and milk well and add to hot chicken broth. Cook, stirring constantly until gravy thickens and boils one minute. Serve with hot biscuits.

REAL FAMILY HOTEL

NEW YORK UPI — One large New York hostelry may reasonably be called a family-type hotel. In these days of changing hotel ownership and chain operation, the 1,000-room Hotel Edison has, ever since it was built 34 years ago, been owned and operated by one family — the Kramers.

President of the hotel is Milton J. Kramer, son of the late Max Kramer, who built the inn.

DIS-TRESSING

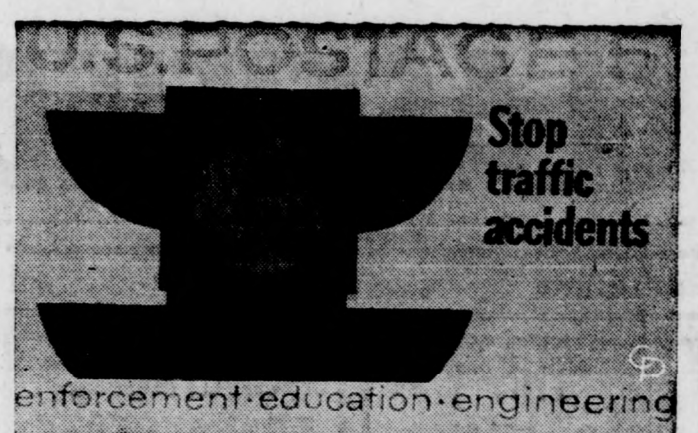

NEW YORK (UPI) — Smart women from Paris to San Francisco have just about decided that it may be chic for the young to be touching shoulders with straight hair but that fashion needs a frame, not a mane.

Helene Curtis Industries report that since Pairs hair-dresser Alexandre declared that curls were back over six months ago, the cutting room floors in salons everywhere have been lined with the remains of the fad that began with the "beat" and picked up steam with "ye-ye" and "mod."

TURKISH WAGES

ANKARA, Turkey UPI — The average daily wage of workers in Turkey is $2, according to a government report.

SAFETY STAMP—Dedicated in Baltimore, Md., this special postage stamp reminding motorists to drive carefully was designed by Richard F. Hurd of New York City. The top and bottom panels are white, the center green.
